A New Curling Club.

At a meeting last week of those in favor of establishing a new skating and curling rink combined, Messrs Louie Kowenski, L. Wight, George E. Clarke, F. W. Lundy and Councillor Hy Oppertshauser were appointed a committee to devise ways and means to bring these into being. One suggestion made was that the Town Council issue debentures for $1500, to cover the cost of the land and the necessary buildings. The town to be recompensed for this outlay by a revenue from both rinks estimated at some $200 a year. These sums to be applied on the debentures.

Accident to Threshing Rig

While the Albrecht threshing outfit was pulling down the Meridian road on its way to the Goetz farm, the amateur wheelman running the engine became slightly excited and ran her into the ditch. When help arrived she was in pretty bad, and it took the rescue party all day to get it back on the trail. There were a few breakages, which were attended to by the local Rumely agent, L. Zilliox.

Open Season for Saxaphones.

The Prince of Wales has been furnished with a carte blanche sporting license by the Provincial Government to take pot shots at anything he desires, within reach of his gun. The future King of England is known to be a good sport, so here's hoping that he will draw a head on any saxaphone players who may happen to stray within reach, and also the fellows who are beginning to get excited about Dempsey's next fight and how the Plebiscite is going to turn out. "Mush," in Edmonton Journal.

Land Confiscated for Taxes.

In connection with the announcement a short time ago that the Provincial Dept. of Municipal Affairs would defer action in taking possession of lands for arrears of taxes until Dec. 1st, and was advising Municipal Councils to do the same, there is apparently a wrong impression existing that the Government had passed an order extending the time for redemption of these lands. This is not the case. The Government in respect of lands over which it has jurisdiction, is merely deferring action toward taking possession of the lands until Dec. 1st, and is recommending to Municipal Councils that they do likewise. Whether similar action is taken in the various municipalities, is entirely a matter for the municipal councils to decide.

Shooting Hungarian Partridge

In an Edmonton daily reference was made to dates of the various game seasons. In order that there may be no misunderstanding of the dates for the chicken and partridge season, the Game Commissioner points out that it is only the Hungarian Partridge that may be shot during the whole month of October, and then only in that part of the province south of the Battle River.

The open season for Prairie Chicken and Ruffed Grouse (commonly referred to as partridge) is for the period between the 15th and 31st of October. The bag limit for Hungarian Partridge is 10 per day. The bag limit for Chicken and Partridge is 10 per day for both classes of bird, not ten of each.

The Japanese Disaster

The disaster which overtook Japan on the first day of September stands without a parallel in all history. A terrific earthquake, or series of earthquakes, tumbled the buildings of the two great cities of Tokio and Yokohama into piles of wreckage. Fire immediately following swept the ruined cities, destroying what the earthquake shocks had left. Then came huge tidal waves which wiped out many of the seaside resorts and towns. Seldom has destruction been so swift and so complete.

The losses were appallingly great in people killed, in the enormous numbers injured, in the destruction of business houses, homes, food, clothing, and even the means of livelihood for untold masses of the people. A despatch from Osaka states that the afflicted area extends about 140 miles east and west, and 110 miles north and south, with a combined population of seven million people. About 70 per cent. of the cities, towns and villages were destroyed. Tokio, of which approximately three-quarters was destroyed, was the world's third largest city.

As one paper, in summing up the news despatches, notes, there was no time to save anything; the land heaved and opened; fires started in the ruins of wrecked buildings and spread swiftly through the tinder-like materials, and then came the waves from the frightfully disturbed sea, giant walls of water smashing in upon the stricken land, drowning the panic-stricken people by thousands.

This terrible calamity has called forth the sympathy of the whole world, sympathy which is finding expression in practical measures of relief on a large scale commensurate to the gigantic need. Like all great catastrophes, it is also proving the mettle of men. Stories of heroism and self-sacrifice, of endurance almost beyond human powers, are beginning to filter through to the outside world, and it must be a source of national pride to Canadians that possibly no finer service was rendered in this terrible emergency than that by the officers and crew of the Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of Australia." The story of the part played by that vessel is one to stir the feelings and arouse the enthusiasm of the most sluggish person.

The Government of Canada lost no time in extending sympathy and practical help on behalf of the Canadian people. Within a few days of the disaster the "Empress of Russia" sailed from Vancouver with over 500 tons of relief supplies, and was the first vessel to reach Japan with supplies from America. On that vessel sailed two Canadian Red Cross nurses to assist in the organization of the white population of Japan for relief work, and with them went the first consignment of Red Cross relief supplies in the shape of twenty tons of preserved milk.

Acting at the request of the Dominion Government, the Canadian Red Cross is making and organizing a nation-wide appeal for voluntary contributions for Japanese relief, and already some hundreds of thousands of dollars have been received. The campaign is being directed by the several Provincial Divisions of the Red Cross. In Manitoba an aggressive publicity campaign is under way. In Saskatchewan and Alberta, owing to the busy harvest season making it difficult to organize a thorough appeal during September, the appeal was deferred until October and is being incorporated with the annual Red Cross appeal in those Provinces.

But in view of the urgent need for immediate relief, the Saskatchewan Division voted $5,000 out of its emergency fund and sent it forward in the name of the people of the Province, while the Alberta Division made a generous offer of hospital supplies. Both Divisions are receiving many voluntary contributions in advance of the October appeal. In British Columbia, with its more intimate knowledge of the Orient, the response to the Red Cross appeal is widespread and generous, while the British Columbia Government has offered a cargo of lumber for re-construction purposes.

This world-wide response of the Christian nations at the hour of Japan's sorrow cannot fail to make a lasting impression on the Japanese people. It will also make for international goodwill.

The Government of Japan has met the emergency in a most creditable manner. With many of its leading citizens killed, its own Government buildings destroyed, millions of citizens without homes, food or clothing, all industry paralyzed and means of livelihood gone, countless thousands injured, and scores of thousands of orphaned children, the task confronting it cannot be described in words. But with Japanese fortitude and energy the problem is being dealt with, and plans are in process of evolution designed to create model cities in Tokio and Yokohama and rebuild industrial Japan greater than before.

British Columbia Trade Grows

Big Improvement in Industrial Life of Province During Last Year
There was a decided improvement in the industrial life of British Columbia during 1922, according to the annual report of the Deputy Minister of Industries. This applies to every branch of industry, and there was a marked renewal of interest shown in the immense raw wealth of the province. There are 432 different articles manufactured in the province, with 2,715 establishments operating.

Prospective Land Buyers

Interests American Buyers in Western Land
Bigly prospective land buyers and settlers brought into Western Canada from Iowa, Illinois, and Indiana through the agency of the Canada Colonization Association, are at the present time travelling to various points in Alberta and Saskatchewan to inspect recommended farms. Twenty of them entered through Winnipeg and sixty through North Portal. Since June the association has brought 200 United States farmers into the prairies on tours of inspection.

No Butter Substitutes Admitted

Permission to Import Oleomargarine Revoked at Last Session of Parliament

As a war-time relief, permission was given by the Parliament of Canada in 1917 to admit oleomargarine which for thirty years had been excluded from trade in this country. This was revoked at the last session of parliament, and hereafter, oleomargarine and other dairy produce substitutes are barred from Canada. While the manufacture and importation ceased at the end of August, dealers are given until the end of February, 1924, to dispose of their stocks.

The other products to be excluded are renovated butter, filled milk, filled cream and filled butter. These contain certain proportions of fats other than the fat of milk, and after October 1, of the current year, they may no longer be imported or sold.

Swollen Joints, Quickly Limered Up

Rub On Nerviline

You would be surprised at the wonderful action of "Nerviline" in just such cases. Being thin and not an oil preparation, it is able to penetrate quickly, and down it sinks into the tissues, carrying its healing, soothing action wherever it goes. For stopping muscular or nerve pain, for easing a stiff joint, Nerviline is a complete success. Pain, soreness, stiffness all vanish before the magic power of this wonderful liniment. Nearly 100,000 cases of success prove the merit of Nerviline, which is sold everywhere in large 5c cent bottles.

THE FALL WEATHER HARD ON LITTLE ONES

Canadian fall weather is extremely hard on little ones. One day it is warm and bright and the next wet and cold. These sudden changes bring on colds, cramps and colic, and unless baby's little stomach is kept right the result may be serious. There is nothing to equal Baby's Own Tablets in keeping the little ones well. They sweeten the stomach, regulate the bowels, break up colds and make baby thrive. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Autos Parked On Roof

Novel Scheme Will Do Away With Traffic Congestion

Traffic congestion in Los Angeles has evolved a new feature in skyscraper construction—motor car parking stations on the roof.

A well-known company, which sells "props"—furniture, costumes, clothes and complete period sets—to the movies and is the largest concern of its kind in the world, has started construction of a new nine-storey building.

Upon completion of the building it will be possible to drive a car into the building, where it will be lifted to any floor level without getting out of the machine. Then the car can be taken to the parking station on the roof until its owner's business is transacted.

Common Expression Incorrect

"She is a lady in every sense of the word," is a common enough expression; yet if that were really so the person referred to would be not only a woman of good breeding and refinement, but also a roofing slate measuring 16x12, and the calcareous apparatus in the stomach of a lobster for the trituration of food. In short, a lady, in every sense of the word, would be a mighty queer-looking object.—Boston Transcript.

Increase in Pure-Bred Animals

Large Increase in Canada Noted in the Last Decade

There have been large increases in the number of pure-bred animals in Canada during the decade between the last two censuses. The increase in the number of pure-bred horses between 1911 and 1921 was 44 per cent.; of cattle, 139 per cent.; of sheep, 75 per cent.; and of swine nearly 45 per cent. The number of pure-bred horses in the Dominion in 1921 was 47,783; cattle, 296,656; sheep, 93,649; and of swine, 81,143.

Wheat Producing Powers Of Canada Of Great Importance To The British Empire

(By C. P. McLennan, London, England)

Canada's wheat-producing powers are of great importance to the British Empire. When those powers are questioned, as they have been recently, an investigation is not out of place for the purpose of determining whether Canada's claim as a great, and prospectively greater, corn country has any solid foundation in fact. I have therefore secured information from a Canadian authority, which goes far to substantiate the Dominion's claim to pre-eminence as a wheat-producing country. There is evidence which suggests that Canada will, in time, produce more wheat, and of a higher grade, than any other country in the world.

That Canada is entitled to be called the "granary of the Empire" is borne out by the following figures, which show the wheat production of the principal producing units of the Empire for the year 1921 (or 1921-22):—

|---------------------------------|---------------------|
| Canada .....                    | 200,858,100 bushels |
| India .....                     | 350,469,232         |
| Australia .....                 | 146,000,000         |
| Great Britain and Ireland ..... | 74,000,000          |
| South Africa .....              | 8,689,000           |
| New Zealand .....               | 6,000,000           |

That Canada will continue to hold this title is evidenced by the fact that not more than 15 per cent. of her wheat land is now under crop. The production in 1922 amounted to 339,736,100 bushels, an increase of 98,328,200 bushels over the 1921 figures given above. While actually India is a close second, relatively she is far behind, inasmuch as Canada produced about 35 bushels-per-head in 1921, as compared with India's less than one bushel per head.

There is another question in dispute. It has been declared that the attempt to push the wheat belt northward in Canada has been a failure. If that were so the future of the Dominion, as a wheat producer, would still be of first-rate importance, as the rest of Canada, about which there is no question, is capable of an enormous annual production. But, as a matter of fact, excellent grain is now grown in those northern districts. The expansion of the wheat belt northward in Canada is by no means a failure; but, on the contrary, has been a decided success. Wheat from the Peace River Valley, in Alberta, took the first prize at the World's Columbian Exposition in 1933, and the area of wheat grown in that district is rapidly increasing. In those northern latitudes four and five grains to the cluster are found, as against two or three in the United States or more southerly countries, those of Canada are superior to those of Great Britain for the production of wheat. The British Isles have too much moisture to produce the hard wheat grown in Canada. Excess of moisture produces wheat lacking in protein content and baking strength.

Owing to the large amount of British capital invested in wheat lands, elevators, railways, steamships and other allied interests in the western provinces of Canada, it becomes a matter of the utmost importance as to whether Canada is to go forward or backward in the work of feeding the American and European continents. The popular impression has been, and still is, that Canada, if adequately developed, can produce enough wheat to make sure the world's supply of bread for a great many years to come, an impression which is founded on irrefutable data. As to whether the Dominion of Canada is likely to be the greatest wheat-growing country in the world, there can only be one answer. That country is now the second largest producer of wheat, and will assuredly become the greatest producer and exporter within a very few years. With but 15 per cent. of her available wheat area under crop, and a rapidly increasing area being brought under annually, the Dominion should be long out-distance the United States in wheat production.

In view of the attitude of the Labor party in this country in opposing migration to Canada, it is an interesting question whether English farmers going out can make money by wheat-raising, or whether the Canadian produce generally has been overdrawn. I may say in this connection that English farmers who have sufficient capital to engage in farming in Western Canada can, undoubtedly, engage profitably in wheat-growing. True, the price of wheat at the present time is at rather a low level. But even in the present conditions, the skillful farmer who is comparatively free of debt, and in a position to give personal attention to his farm, should certainly succeed in growing wheat at a profit.

Land can be purchased now at low prices, and the settler will probably reap the benefit of increased values in his land holdings. There is no justification for throwing cold water on Canada as land for the British migrant, who looks to farming for a livelihood.

Placing the Blame

Campers Responsible for Large Percentage of Forest Fires

How many forest fires are started by campers? The Chief Forester of British Columbia, P. Z. Caverhill, makes an arresting statement on this subject as follows: "Out of a total of 2,591 fires in a season the greatest single cause of starting such fires is that listed as Campers and Travelers, who were known to be responsible for 625, or 24.2 per cent. There is little doubt that a number of the fires which started from unknown causes amounting to 526, can be attributed to campers and travellers; that it is fairly safe to say that 25 per cent. of all the fires caused in British Columbia last year were caused by the carelessness of people who should have the greatest interest in keeping the forests green."

Will Show Their Best

Saskatchewan Livestock Men to Exhibit Entries at Toronto Winter Fair

The stockmen of Saskatchewan, through the Saskatchewan Livestock Board, have definitely decided to send an exhibit of their best animals to the Toronto Royal Winter Fair and to the Chicago International Livestock Exposition, and plans are definitely under way to secure a good representation of the best animals in the province.

"The Saskatchewan Livestock Commissioner has announced that the breeders' purpose is to take advantage of the assistance offered by the Dominion and Provincial Governments to pay for transportation on stock from Saskatchewan to Toronto and assistance in arranging and managing the exhibit and in transporting to the International and home agent. Mr. Robertson states that selection committees have been appointed to secure the best in horses, cattle, sheep, swine, and poultry, and anyone in the province who has stock that he wishes to have considered, should write in at once to the Livestock Branch, Regina.

Entries for these shows should be in the hands of Mr. Robertson not later than October 26. It is proposed to assemble the exhibit at Regina at the time of the sheep and swine shows in that city which is being held on Nov. 6, 7 and 8. The exhibit will leave Regina for Toronto a day or two later in order to be there in good time and get a rest before the judging starts at the Royal. Having won several championships at the first Royal held last year, and having a very enviable record at the International in 1920 and 1921, the Saskatchewan breeders are determined to live up to their present excellent reputation and it is expected that a strong exhibit of horses and sheep will go forward as well as some excellent individuals in the other classes of livestock.

Great Interest Was Shown In Canadian Exposition Train Which Has Been Touring France

On July 16th the Canada/France Exposition Train, consisting of some 30 specially constructed motor coaches containing samples of Canadian manufactured goods and products of field, mine, forest and river, left Havre on its three months' tour of France, the itinerary including stops at practically all important cities and terminating at Paris on October 8th next.

It is to Senator Charles Beaulieu of Montreal that the credit for this moving exposition of Canadian products must be given, and it is only after some years of constant work and propaganda that it was finally brought to fruition and the support of manufacturers and the Canadian and French Governments secured. Interviewed on the subject, Senator Beaulieu is reported from Havre to have said:

"I do not ignore the fact that the operation of this exposition in France will take some years to bring results. Without doubt the war, which left its mark on many European countries, depreciated the franc, but in spite of that our exports to France are today superior by 400 per cent. to those of 1913, and at the end of its last fiscal year the United States had sold to France more than $220,000,000 of merchandise. If, thanks to this exposition train, we succeed in doubling our trade with France, our efforts will have been worth while. Whatever the result, we will have brought about a novel propaganda in France which during six months will cause the name of Canada to be on the lips of Frenchmen in all parts of the Republic."

In a message from Premier the Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King to the French people, published in the French Press, he expresses Canada's pleasure at the co-operation of the French Government, in the following words:—

"Canada, in sending an exposition to France, takes, with pleasure, the occasion to reply to the bonnie entente which exists between the two countries and to draw closer the bonds of friendship which unite them, entente and desire which was clearly demonstrated by the splendid exposition of French Arts and Industry which toured Canada in 1921.

"The friendship which this exchange of visits inspires, augments and reinforces the mutual respect and admiration consecrated during the war on French soil by the common sacrifice of our glorious armies, will not be lessened by the occasion which offers to make known to each of us the products of the two countries.

"It is good, therefore, that Canada, of all the countries of the earth, which has known how to unite the descendants of those valiant men and women who have remained loyal to the flag of France and Britain, and to make of their descendants a great nation, should now reinforce the bonds."

"The English and French in Canada have united, in the national life of the country, all the best traditions, the highest courage and other qualities which have come down to them from their antecedents. Canada was proud in 1921 to extend the warmest of welcomes to the French exposition train which visited the Dominion, and it is with the same spirit of friendship and perfect understanding that she now sends her exhibits to France."

The interest which the Canadian exposition train is creating in France is excellent. The public are thronging by the thousands to view the exhibits in the afternoons and by the tens of thousands in the evening. Pamphlets are being distributed, the natural resources of Canada are explained, and everything possible done to convey to the French public a proper idea of Canada's greatness—what it is and what opportunity she offers for settlement, trade and manufacturing.

At each point where the train stops the delegation is officially welcomed by the civil authorities, there is a complimentary luncheon or dinner, a reception by the Chambre de Commerce and an official inspection of the exhibits.

Accompanying Senator Beaulieu are Prof. H. Laurey, Director of the School of Higher Commercial Studies, Montreal; Dr. Ami, of Ottawa, Government expert on minerals; Mr. Georges Bouché, M.P., Prof. of St.-Anne de la Pocatière Agricultural School; and Lieut.-Col. H. Barre, Canadian Commercial Agent at Paris. Thirty young Canadians, mostly students, are accompanying the train and giving their services free as lecturers.

At the conclusion of the tour, the exhibits will be displayed in the Place de la Concorde, Paris, where the French Government have specially prepared a building in the Tuileries Gardens.

Valuable Garden Assistant

English Gardeners Will Pay Good Price For Toads

It is said that a toad is worth five dollars to any gardener. In rural England, gardeners place a very good price for them. Cutworms, grubs and beetles hide during the day and do their destructive work at night, when their natural enemies, the birds, are asleep. A toad has been known to eat one hundred beetles or fifty army worms at a time. He seems always to be hungry. His very long tongue is fastened in the front of his mouth and is covered with a sticky substance. He always catches his game when in motion and swallows it whole. He does not drink water, but absorbs moisture through his skin.

The Irish Of It

It was during the dry spell and a shower having come around. Dr. Blank remarked to his gardener, "The rain will do a lot of good, Patrick." "It will that, sorr," returned Pat. "Shure an hour of it now will do more good in five minutes than a month of it would do in a week at any other time."

"I can't stay long," said the chairman of the committee from the color of church. "I just came to see if you would join de mission band." "Po de lan! take, honey," replied the old mammy, "dear come to me. I can't even play a moufaron—Lippincott's Magazine."

Every man knows lots of fool things that he would do if he had the money.

1. Restoration of Duck-billed Dinosaur Trachodon made by Mr. Knight under the supervision of Professor Osborn. 2. Bones of these animals, the character of the skin and their probable habits and environment.

3. Showing the 58 feet skeleton of Gorgosaurus being lifted. This skeleton was taken up in five sections, the largest of which weighed over a ton.

This will introduce you to the Duck-billed Dinosaur Trachodon. "Once upon a time, hundreds of thousands of years ago, these huge reptiles, fifty, sixty and even a hundred feet long, roamed the surface of that part of the earth which is now ploughed by the Alberta farmers and fought with other reptiles of gigantic size. That was when an island sea, extending from the Arctic Ocean to the Gulf of Mexico divided the continent of North America before the age of man. We know not how they lived nor how they died, but we know that they lived and where they died."

Few of the tourists who travel east of Calgary across the open prairies know that but a few miles north, where the Red Deer, 30 miles, cuts down through these same level stretches, lies a valley known as the "Bad Lands."

Numerous expeditions have been sent into the Bad Lands of Red Deer by the Government and by museums both in Canada and the United States, and each season adds not only to the number of parties interested in collecting fossil remains, but also to the tourists who are attracted by the picturesque character of the canyon and whose imagination is thrilled with the thought of the age-long secrets which the valley is beginning to make known. From Brooks on the Canadian Pacific Railway, about 110 miles east of Calgary, one sets out by motor for the Bad Lands, making the approach to the top of the towering cliffs from Dead Lodge Canyon or along the One Tree Trail.

At home my days were very full, though one was much more another. It may be taken for granted that with a house to look after and two active children to feed and clean and keep clean, I had little time for the organized work that less busy women were doing. Gradually, however, I grew very frail, but her clever old hands were never idle, and I took two of the girls from the office and sent them supplied with wool for the socks she made. As the months slipped by our house became the headquarters for a group of girls and young women who came to sew and knit and pack boxes, and to exchange the news from overseas letters. My old circle had been very much broken up. The Middleton girls were both nursing overseas, one in France and one in Egypt. Maudie had gone into her father's office and was only free in the evenings. Julia Elton and Kathleen Manners were doing V.A.D. work in England. And Elsie Farnham had married one of the Harland boys and gone to stay with his people while he was away—he transferred to the Imperial in '17 and was killed in Mesopotamia. But those of us who were left saw as much of each other as possible, and we found many bits of inconspicuous work to do.

CHAPTER SIX

Murray did not come home until August of 1919, although he was one of the first prisoners to reach England. It was only in his first letter from London that I learned what had really happened to him, that he had been quite badly gassed at the time he was taken prisoner. At a result of that, and of unsuitable food, he had for months suffered from an ulcerated stomach, and there was some fear that his lungs also were affected.

"I wish they'd send me home," he wrote, "one of the Sisters tells me that Deer Lodge and the Old Agricultural College are both military hospitals now, and it would be great to be within reach of my family. But to tell you the truth, I'm in pretty rotten shape just now, so I think I had better content myself here until I am more presentable. We have a Montreal doctor who is supposed to be able to make a new stomach out of an old hot water bottle, he wants to operate, but I am what they call 'under observation' at present. Major Allday says if they let him have his soap I'll be eating lobster salad in six months, so you see there is nothing to worry about, Margaret-Anne."

Major Allday died of an operation. Margaret-Anne did worry. But two weeks later there came a letter from the Winnipeg Sister, with a shakily-written postscript from Murray himself, to say that the operation had been very successful, and that I might begin house-hunting at once, as I was going to have a perfectly good husband before long. But the house was ready before the husband was, Murray's convalescence was slower than either of us had expected. And I shed my last tears for many a day over a snapshot the Sister sent a month later, though I am sure I had it to prepare me for the man who came back in the place of the boy who had

After two weeks of intensive cultivation of Real Estate agents I rented a cottage near the river on Parkway street. Rents were a scandalous height, the places I could afford were all undesirable in one way or another, and those I liked were too expensive for me. I really took the cottage on Parkway Street because of its having a nice little garden, and a screened veranda at the side of the house instead of facing the street. It was not a bad little place, though the rooms were tiny and the kitchen chimney was exceedingly temperamental, and the kiddies and I had a lovely time "getting ready for Daddy." Everyone in Winnipeg was house-hunting that summer, it seemed, women who had been "doubling up" or living with relatives were, like myself, preparing for the return of their men, and I soon concluded that I had been lucky to find so satisfactory a home.

I was fortunate, too, in having no little furniture to buy, for furniture prices were even more unreasonable than rents. Mother's nice old things gave quite an air to the place, and though I had not my heart set on a fireplace, an electric stove, and one of those adorable porcelain kitchen cabinets, I was very happy as I tucked the babies into their cribs that first night under our own roof. Winnipeg was still in a state of unrest after the strike that had been our first taste of the aftermath of war, but it seemed that I could think of nature but my own affairs. I had my home and my children, and soon I would have Murray's advice regarding diet and rest were of secondary importance.

I am not ordinarily an introspective person, but I must confess that during the month I was alone I sometimes found myself wondering what Murray and I would think of each other when we met again after so long a separation. Papers and magazines were full of stories and articles dealing with after-the-war conditions affecting marriage and the home, and I read them with the subject was discussed, either with frankness or as material for scandal.

One herd of men who were disappointed and who could not settle to their responsibilities, of men who could not do good in Canada or in Canadian women, of women who had failed in their duty during the absence of their husbands.

One of my girl friends confessed to me that she had been "awfully disappointed" in her husband when he returned, that all the glamour seemed to have faded, and she felt as if she were nursing a stranger.

And a woman I had known for years, a fine, unselfish wife and mother, was living in purgatory because she refused to divorce her husband in order that he might marry the English girl who had married his life for twenty years.

"It is my husband still," Mrs. Hope said to me, "nothing can change that. And if I were to let him do as he wishes now he might live to regret it, and that would be more than mine—his for he cannot be quite normal or he would not act as he does."

I need not have feared, and more times than I can count I have thanked God for my knees for giving me my primitive nature and my healthy body. Murray was pitifully changed, but he needed me and wanted me, and every shadow of doubt vanished in my joy that I had him safe once more and that I had strength for two. Not even for a second was there any feeling of constraint, and I was shilly-gig when after the first wonderful moment he exclaimed, "Oh, I forgot the family!"

How much he was changed it took me a few days to realize. His physical condition of course could not be hidden. He was thinner than I had thought it possible for a person to be and he tired very easily. But I soon learned that he was awfully nervous, and easily depressed—he who had never known what depression meant—and the grey in his hair and the look of strain in his eyes almost broke my heart. There was little I could do for him, for he tried to hide his weakness, but I kept my father and said "a stiff upper lip" and we accepted as closely as was tactful our old doctor's advice regarding diet and rest, and amusement.

After Murray went back to the office he seemed to improve, but then one day when I could tell that his nerves were tense to the breaking point and nights when neither of us slept and I had to talk to him and comfort him as if he were Rupert awakened from the wakeful nights were the nights when he would talk in his sleep, sometimes shouting, and even then the sometimes whispering broken sentences that made my blood run cold—were the awful things he saw the fancies of a sick mind, or had he lived with such horrors until Nature could bear the burden no longer?

One day that other wives told me about I never experienced. Murray was never impatient nor irritable, sometimes I used to wish he were in so far as he could control himself he was his old self. And that tremendous will-power, what is going to pull him through, the doctor would tell me. Sometimes he would even show for a few minutes his old gaiety, and it was then that I thanked God and took courage. So long as he wanted me all the time and could still see the funny side of things I could face the future.

Rupert held back for a day or two after Murray came home. Very thoughtfully he would compare him with the photograph that had been "Daddy" ever since he learned to talk, and I think in his four-year-old heart he was a little bit jealous that Murray took so much of my time. But when he discovered that his father was an unfailingly patient playmate, though not a very active one, he quickly capitulated, and it soon began to look as if I had lost my son.

With Nicolas the procedure was quite different. She had always been the softest hearted little girl born to mother the rest of the world, and as even a child could see what Murray needed he appealed to her protective instinct at once. Her dolls were neglected, and even the three-legged kitten she had adopted lost its charm. I used to fear sometimes that the child was too susceptible, but as she promised to be as great a tomboy as her mother, I trusted that her extreme sensitiveness would be balanced by her healthy little body. I am my "Daddy's little nurse," she would say. "He is not a blood-sucker, so I can climb on him if I like, but he is very tired all over."

CHAPTER SEVEN

The winter of 1919-20 was in many ways a very happy one. The children were well throughout the season, and as a woman who lived across the street was always glad to stay with them in the evenings I was able to go out with Murray whenever we wished. I suppose none of my friends thought I neglected the twins, but I was sure that Murray needed me most. Even before I was married I used to notice that as women put their husbands first and some their children, and I tried to keep that if I ever acquired such possessions I should be able to divide myself with geometrical exactness. I think I succeeded; at any rate, neither Murray nor the babies seemed to have a grievance. And in the light of after events, I have nothing to regret. We might, I suppose, have saved the money we spent on amusements, but in that case we should have had fewer pictures in our memory gallery. And we had a great deal of company, our old friends, and men whom Murray had known overseas. For though there were times when I wanted nothing so much as to have Murray and the twins to myself I had resolved that our home must be "Open House," in the good old-fashioned way.

My very happiest times were the evenings when Murray and I sat alone, after the children had gone to bed and talked and talked, building together the air-castles we had planned separately for so long. Murray expected promotion soon, and a substantial increase in his salary, but we resolved to live as simply as possible for a few years, so that when the children were older we might build a home for ourselves. I was able to be well out of the city, with land enough for a good-sized garden, and we would keep chickens and perhaps a Ford!

Purity and perfect in their action, Miller's Worm Powders are always safe and reliable remedy for children who show symptoms of worms. These symptoms are easily recognizable in the feverish restlessness, frequently and in convulsions. A point of notable importance is that after Miller's Worm Powders have expelled the worms, the stomach and bowels are toned up into a very healthy condition.

A Striking Coincidence

The most striking coincidence in connection with the presidents of the United States is shown by the chief executives furnished by the States of Tennessee—Andrew Jackson, Andrew Johnson and James Knox Polk; all three were born in North Carolina, all were Democrats and each had thirteen letters in his full name. Four other presidents had thirteen letters in their names—Zachary Taylor, James Buchanan, Ulysses S. Grant and Woodrow Wilson.

Takes Revenge On Car

Horse Struck by Auto Wrecks Radiator and Lamps

In a contest between a horse and a motor car at Niagara Falls the horse came off best. Charles Cummings and George Stewart were motoring along when the horse, which had broken out of a field, was hit. The car was stalled and the horse, in its excitement, kicked the radiator to pieces, smashed the lamps, went to the side and kicked the mud guard into scrap iron and then paid a visit to the back of the car and smashed the rear light. No one was injured.

Probably the top round of the ladder exists only in the imagination, as nobody has succeeded in reaching it.

It was the most profitable action I have ever taken, I heartily assure you, through the results of my suffering. I am relieved of most of my ailments.'—Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Compound Tablets for both men and women. E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine, and I can honestly say I have never been so well before. I had suffered from pains and other troubles since I was fifteen years old, and during the 'Great War' period I worked on munitions for two years, and, in the heavy lifting which my work called for, I strained myself, causing pelvic inflammation from which I have suffered untold agony, and I often had to give up and go to bed. I had doctors for several years without getting permanent relief, when I started to take your medicines."—Mrs. GOLDWIN MISENER, Branchton, Ont.

Revolutionary Movement In Bulgaria Considered To Be Nearing An End

Sofia.—A semi-official statement says the revolutionary movement in Bulgaria can be considered as approaching its end. The insurgents are deserting their leaders and surrendering in parties, saying they were inveigled into the movement against their wills, the statement adds.

The decisive battle in the Communist uprising is being fought in the city of Ferdinand and the village of Berkowitsa, which are four miles apart, and half-way from Sofia to the Danube, according to a statement issued by the war office.

Five thousand Communist and agrarian allies are besieged there, after having proclaimed a soviet republic and established complete control over the area. Four thousand soldiers, aided by civilian volunteers, have been carrying out an enveloping operation during the past five days and have now drawn their lines completely around Ferdinand and Berkowitsa.

The tragedy was witnessed by a number of people. Just how it happened has not yet been established, but the spectators were horrified to see the plane nose dive.

When rescuers arrived on the scene they found the plane fifteen feet under the water.

Many British Harvesters Will Remain

Statement Made That Ninety Per Cent. Will Stay in Canada

Montreal.—That 90 per cent. of the British harvesters who went to the western grain fields this year are well satisfied with Canada and that they will stay in this country, is the opinion of one of the young Brits, Michael Lampard, a Cambridge student, who sailed by the liner Minnedosa to complete his studies in England.

The Minnedosa carried 60 returning harvesters and they were all delighted with their "holidays" in Canada. On board were about 15 harvesters who have been deported from the country. Questioned with regard to them, Mr. Lampard said that they were just shirkers, who thought that the world owed them a living.

Hendry, who has returned with her three-year-old daughter from Christiansburg, Sweden. # European Market For Canadian Grain Now Reported To Be Poor

Another Earthquake In Japan

Violent Earth Tremors Around The City of Kure

Tokio.—Another severe earthquake has occurred in Japan in the Hiroshima district. The earthquake was especially violent around the city of Kure. The extent of the damage has not been determined, as communications have been disrupted.

Kure is in the extreme southwestern end of the island of Honshu, and approximately 450 miles southwest of Tokyo.

Floods have followed a typhoon in Fukagawa and Honjo, wards of Tokyo. Many have suffered as a result, as thousands of refugees were encamped in rude shacks in these wards.

Australia Votes On Organic Church Union

Largest Presbyterian Assemblies Give Crushing Defeat to Plan

Toronto.—According to information received here the plan for organic church union has received "a crushing defeat" at the recent meetings of the state assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Australia, South Australia, West Australia and Victoria, which are the largest of the assemblies in Australia, rejected the amended basis of union and the union proposal, while New South Wales and Queensland voted in favor of the proposal, says the dispatch.

German Subs in Bay of Fundy

St. John, N.B.—That German submarines used to make the Bay of Fundy a refuge, where, unmolested by allied sub-chasers, they could clean and scrape their hulls and carry out minor repairs during the war, was information given by the Engineering Institute of Canada by E. G. Cameron, Chief Engineer of the St. John dry dock, in the course of a paper delivered at the session of the organization.

Good Yields of Wheat

Regina, Sask.—Some good yields of wheat are indicated in the latest reports received by the Saskatchewan Cooperative Elevator Company from crop correspondents in various parts of the province. In the majority of cases the bulk of the wheat is grading either No. 1 or No. 2 Northern.

Montreal.—The European market for Canadian grain is the poorest in years with little or no demand and with prices extremely weak, according to expert opinion here in close touch with the world market conditions. The situation is borne out by reports from the International Grain Statistical Bureau at Rome, which indicate that the world will this season have a considerable grain surplus over all needs. This, the experts point out, is automatically reflecting itself in the smaller demand and lower prices. What the ultimate effect of the condition will be upon the marketing of the Canadian crop has not yet been known, but from advices received from British markets by leading Montreal grain brokers it is clear that the whole marketing movement will not only be considerably slow, but that prices will not reach the high levels of other years.

"The trouble is that the world has grown too much grain this season," a local grain authority said.

Bienfait Plant Will Continue Operations

Next Three Months' Development May Justify Expenditure Made

Ottawa.—The briquetting plant at Bienfait, Sask., is to be continued in operation for the next three months. It was stated by Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of Highway of the province of Saskatchewan, who has been in consultation here with the Federal Department of Interior with regard to the matter.

As the result of investigations carried on by engineers representing the two governments, said Mr. Gardiner, it was hoped to be able to develop during the three months' period a process of briquetting which would justify the comparatively large expenditure already made.

Canada's Bright Future

Lord Birkenhead Thinks Population Will Increase by Five Million in Next Ten Years

Winnipeg.—"I cannot discover any well-informed student of sociology in the Dominion of Canada who does not believe that the next ten years will see an increase in your population of five millions," said Lord Birkenhead, former Lord Chancellor of Great Britain, in the course of an address before the Canadian Club here.

Lord Birkenhead stated that after a careful study of Canada's progress and resources and intensely interesting observations during his present trip, and another trip made a decade ago, he felt that one must be blind and unimaginative who would remain unaffected at the conclusions thus forced upon him of Canada's potentialities.

After giving a concise summary of Great Britain's present causes for anxiety, the speaker pointed out that in spite of free predictions that the world's financial centre had passed from London to New York, it still remained, and bid fair to continue indefinitely to remain, in London. He recommended free reciprocal trade within the British Empire.

Ireland May Abolish Present Legal System

New Bill Makes Provision for One Criminal Court

The high court judges would be reduced to nine and the district judges would number about one-half of those now acting as county court judges. Under the bill there will be a criminal court in Dublin.

Relief for Famine Sufferers

With every available inch of her cargo space crammed with foodstuffs and a capacity stock of ship stores, sufficient to replenish the supplies of the Empress of Canada and the Empress of Australia, on relief duty off the Japanese coast, the Canadian Pacific S.S. Empress of Russia was the first relief ship to arrive. She carried consignments of flour the Canadian Red Cross sent twenty tons of canned milk and fifty tons of other canned food-stuffs, while the Vancouver Japan Association contributed an initial shipment of fifty tons of flour for their famine-stricken countrymen. More than two hundred and twenty-five of the "Russia" three thousand tons of cargo was of flour.

THE PROHIBITION TREE ITS SWEET FRUITS.

1. The forcing of not only the use but the MANUFACTURE of alcoholic liquors into the home in the shape of "home brew." This is on the increase; see the Report of the Commissioner of the Alberta Provincial Police for 1922, quoted by the Liquor Commissioner in his Bulletin, No. 6, page 4.
2. The undermining of the general respect for law and order by a statutory attempt to legislate tastes into crime. The statute is impossible of enforcement; see Report of Supt. Bryan of the A. P. P. 1920, page 46. The reason is that public sentiment is not behind it; See Report of 1920, page 46, confirmed by similar remarks in report of 1922.
3. The sapping of the foundations of society by the appeal to citizens to become spies, tattle tales, and informers, with the protection of secrecy for those who give their names, and the encouragement of approval for the cowards who will not; see Liquor Bulletin No. 2, pages 5 and 5, and No. 8, pages 4 and 5. Our life is poisoned as well by the free employment of "spotters" and "stool pigeons" whose methods of manufacturing evidence are a public scandal throughout Alberta.

And then the Prohibitionists talk about "improving social conditions"!!

Blaze on Main St.

While just about to put a batch of bread in the oven on Friday last, Mr Trapp had the misfortune to have the chimney of his baker's oven topple down, the flames bursting out into the room and nearly causing a conflagration. The Fire Chief happened to be taking a sun bath in front of the building at the time, and after being wakened hastily grabbed a bucket and helped extinguish the blaze. Bricklayer "Bob" Stoker this week completed a fine new chimney to the oven, which it is hoped will be a slight improvement on the former.

Meet After Many Years.

Mr and Mrs Dan H. Carmichael and daughter Mabel, graduate of the University of California, have left for their home in San Francisco, after enjoying a week's visit with the former's brother, Mr N. M. Carmichael. This was the first time the brothers had seen each other for 29 years. Mr Carmichael has been on a four months' visit to his old home in Cape Breton, N. S., which he left 36 years ago. He has been an employee of the Southern Pacific Railway Co. for over 30 years. On their way back the party will visit friends in Vancouver, B. C., and Tacoma and Seattle, Wash.

Call Again!

The party who appropriated the pack of new cards at the Rebekah party on Monday night, is asked to call for the 2's and 3's.--The Vermilion Standard.

The Plebiscite Enumerators

No official enumeration has yet been done for the voters lists for the voting on Prohibition on Nov. 5, states John D'Hunt, Clerk of the Executive Council, the enumerators not having yet been appointed. Selections are now being made, however, and the appointments will follow immediately upon the issue of the writs, which is scheduled for Tuesday next, October 9th. The work of enumerating will then begin forthwith all over the Province.

Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 12

Thanksgiving Day will fall on Monday, Nov. 12th. The law provides that Thanksgiving Day will be on the Monday of the week in which Armistice Day falls. Sunday, the 11th of November, being Armistice Day, the following day will be Thanksgiving day, both days being celebrated in one.

Do Hogs Pay!

The advantage of having good hogs to start with, and proper feeding of these, was well exemplified last week when Mr John Staub sold 10 hogs to Wood and Zucht. The hogs were 5 months and 3 days old, and brought the raiser some $198.35 in real money--nearly $20 an animal. Hogs do pay!
